NEW HOMES & CONDOS 35 The Toronto Sun ■ FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 7 & SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 9, 2014

IEW HOMES & CONDOS

Coffee tables that rule

Glass tables

Glass and/or mirror tables blend into a room's background giving the illusion of more space. A round, antique mirror and burnished metal deco-style table was the perfect fit in this glamorous

Rule of thirds

A coffee table's length should be two-thirds of the drawers for knick- knacks.

How high?

Your table and seating height should be within four inches from each other. In this living room, the mirror and polished, nickel, coffee table is the perfect height for the sofa.

Traffic flow

Keep approximately eighteen inches around an occafortably around the furniture.

Two is better than one

Consider two, smaller tables instead of one, big table in a large space. This living room was big enough for two sofas and coffee tables. Each table features an upholstered top, a shelf below as well as a spot for a decorative item in the centre of the

- Evelyn Eshun is a Torontobased interior designer with more than 15 years experience creating custom design residential projects. Visit her at www.evelynshun. com. The article first appeared in Canadian Home Trends magazine which

